DEMOCRATS ARE SANGUINE

Big Crowd Attends Reception at Headquarters and Heats Speeches.

The Democratic ladies held forth again at Democratic headquarters yesterday afternoon and fully 1,000 visitors attended during the afternoon and partook of light refreshments and listened to a few excellent musical selections by Hagberg, Anderson and Leon De Charrier, speeches by Alexander Brewer, the Democratic nominee for mayor, Valentine Gideon, nominee for city attorney and John C. Davis, nominee for city judge.

The headquarters were crowded all day, which bodes good for the cause of the Democrats, and everybody present expressed great confidence in winning the fight today. Chairman Bossner is particularly pleased at the outlook and feels confident that he will succeed in electing a majority of the ticket, at least.

Mr. Brewer, in his talk, stated that the Democrats were without a newspaper to advocate their cause, and that they were compelled to fight the battle alone, but that they would surely win. He took the ground that the Democrats are in the right and they will surely win the election day.

He was greeted with prolonged cheers and his talk of ten minutes was interrupted on several occasions by the cheering of the crowd. Mr. Gideon and Mr. Davis were also greeted with much applause when they were introduced.

The vocal selections by Mr. Anderson and Mr. Charrier were also much appreciated.

JOKE ON MR. MCABE.

Meat Inspection Officer Victim of His Own Law.

A story has reached Ogden from Washington regarding George P. McCabe, formerly of this city, but now solicitor of the department of agriculture, that will interest many people here.

McCabe was the author of that provision of the meat inspection law which forbids any railroad to transport meat unless labeled "U. S. Inspected and Passed." The agriculture solicitor is a hospitable man, he likes nothing better than to gather a few congenial souls around his board, especially on Sunday afternoon. He has been passing the summer at Garrett Park, Md., a suburb of Washington, and buys all his supplies in the capital city.

During a hot spell several weeks ago he asked a number of men to dine with him on the Sabbath and told his wife that, as the ice box was low, it would be wise to replenish the meat supply. Mrs. McCabe dutifully telegraphed to Washington and purchased about seventy pounds of roast beef, bacon, lamb, etc. The butcher sent the baggage to the railroad station and the baggage man promptly declined to receive it on the ground that it was not marked "U. S. Inspected and Passed."

Mrs. McCabe telephoned to her husband; he tried to turn the wheels of government, but failed—it was Saturday and work ceased at noon—and in order to get the stuff out to his home McCabe had to take it into the passenger car. Upon arrival at Garrett Park there was no vehicle in waiting. The solicitor was compelled to load the basket on his shoulder and then through what is called "the dreary woods" to reach his house. He called for help an hour before he arrived at home, and when he did his friends say he was in an unspeakable frame of mind. One thing is certain, McCabe, "Inspected and Passed" is not half as popular in the agricultural department as it was before that blue Saturday.

LOOKING FOR A FRIEND.

Fellow Passengers on Train Go to Police With Tale.

A peculiar story was poured into the ears of Captain Brown of the police department last night by two strangers who claimed to be en route to the Pacific coast. According to the story told by one of the men, a man named W. A. Knowlton boarded the train at Colorado Springs. Learning from their conversation that they were going to Los Angeles, Knowlton introduced himself to the two, as he was on his way to a small town between San Francisco and Los Angeles. The three got well acquainted and became quite friendly, and when they arrived in Ogden they all left the train and went to a restaurant to get something to eat. Shortly after they sat down at the table Knowlton excused himself for a moment and left the place by the back way. This was at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and he has not been heard from since. Last evening the two friends came to the police station and reported the matter, saying that the man has met with foul play, as he had considerable money on him at the time.

Talked About a Hospital.

The board of county commissioners held a short meeting yesterday morning and disposed of the regular routine work of the board. The principal matter taken up was the proposed new hospital building. The matter arose over the report of the county physician that he had had two cases of measles recently in San Francisco and Los Angeles. The board decided to take action on the matter. It is estimated that the new building will cost about $500. No definite action was taken.

A lengthy petition from residents of Birch Creek and Uintah was received, asking the board to make certain improvements in the roads, but it was decided to postpone action until next year, when a special road tax will be levied for the purpose.

improvements in the roads, but it was decided to postpone action until next year, when a special road tax will be levied for the purpose.

Took Money From Gardener.

Herman Voss, a gardener, reported to the police yesterday that he had been robbed of $5. As Voss tells the story, he was making a round of the city in the company of a stranger who asked for a job. Voss was willing and proceeded to ward his farm with the stranger, who attempted to pick his pockets en route, but was discovered. Voss protested, whereupon the stranger throttled him and with a jack knife cut the pocket from his trousers and made away with the money.

OGDEN EDITORIAL.

Anything to Beat Brewer?—Now the war cry of the Republicans. Can everybody else's throat to elect the man from the Third ward to head of the city government. If anything could prove that the Republicans are on the run, the old trick of the "Anything to Beat Brewer" would do it. When election day approaches and they realize that their cause is hopeless, they begin to select a favorite on the ticket and proceed to crucify every other nominee for the office. However, this is not unknown to the Democratic committee, and measures have already been taken to offset the move.

It is said that the matter is acting as a boomerang already, as it certainly can't help doing when all of the other candidates have become familiar with the situation. Some of them, it is said, have already bucked over the traces. They do not like the idea of putting up their name for the campaign fund and then having the money used for the election of another man and the money themselves turned into the cold, cold world. The Republican press is thoroughly subsidized and is practically controlled from the San Francisco and Los Angeles. Editorials and so-called news items referring to the local situation are written by and for the benefit of the Republican half-wick and are dish out to the public as the truth.

Last evening the State Journal came out in a milk-sick attempt to reply to the article in The Herald regarding the canceled election matter. This story, like the rest, emanated from Republican headquarters, and the wonderful and incongruous excuses set up as a reply to The Herald are, to say the least, ludicrous.

There is not the slightest point in the whole article except those portions clipped from The Herald, which constitute nine-tenths of the story. The Herald article must have hit hard or they would not have used such headlines or become so concerned. Only one thing will be noticed in the article and this is because there are many who may not know the law in such matters. The Journal says: "The claim of $22,000 for damages was said to have been caused by the spring floods, filed against the city by the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway company." The Bamberger road, was rejected by the city council on the initiative of Mr. Craig. After explanations by him and investigation by the Bamberger people the claim was withdrawn. The whole matter has been arranged to the entire satisfaction of all the citizens and everyone who had an urgent material interest therein.

Such a thing can be nothing but silly to one having any knowledge of the situation. Not one of the parties who presented their claims expected them to be paid by the council, but the law says that they must present them to the council for payment before they can be sued upon. If the council refuses payment, action will then lie for the recovery through the courts. The inconsistency of the Journal's stand in this matter is clearly shown by the articles which appeared in that paper during the early spring, just following the flood, criticizing the council for its dilatory tactics and protesting against the payment of the canyon bridge, and the great loss that the people of Ogden valley were sustaining being compelled to go around by the old road with their produce.

All in all, the Republicans are desperate and are resorting to every means, fair or foul, to win the election. They appear to realize that they are defeated and any old thing is not too bad for them to say. Such politics is merely a boomerang. Such tactics cannot help but react upon their heads.

As yet Mr. Craig has not seen fit to reply to the charges in connection with the Willard water deal. It was reported at Democratic headquarters yesterday that Frank Moore, who was named as the owner of the Willard power site, was one of Mr. Craig's warmest supporters in the present campaign. If true, this is looked upon as significant, in the light of the recent exposures.

The voters of Ogden will not be fooled by the circulation of rumors such as were set afloat yesterday. The election of the straight Democratic ticket is certain today's election. This fact is virtually conceded by many of the prominent Republicans of the city.

Chairman Bossner said last evening that nothing could stop a victory today. He stated that the result of the election of the city showed a strong sentiment in favor of the Democratic candidates. He said that he was certain that Craig would carry the Third ward.

His own ward.

Chairman Hulaniski was not so sanguine as in former years, but predicted a victory for his ticket.

DOLES RELEASED ON BAIL.

Principals in Saloon Shooting Still Refuse to Talk.

After spending two days in the city jail, Alexander Doles, the saloonkeeper who shot Frank Martell, was released on bail yesterday morning. Police Judge Wahl, who on Saturday fixed the saloonkeeper's bail at $10,000, reduced it to $1,000. This was because the condition of Martell was not serious.

The man was able to appear in the police court yesterday to answer a charge of drunkenness. Martell pleaded guilty. Judge Wahl dismissed the charge, but Martell was at once taken into custody as a participant in the unexplained shooting affair of Saturday in the Crystal bar, 128 West First street.

Bail was furnished for Alexander Doles by Ralph Ambrose and L. A. Doles.

Doles and Martell still refuse to tell the cause of the row which ended in the shooting scrape.

ASKS FOR BIG DAMAGES.

Collapse of Beams Alleged to Have Caused Permanent Injury.

On removal from the district court, action was instituted yesterday in the United States court by Homer A. Shelly, through his attorneys, to recover $25,000 damages from the Utah Gas & Coke company and the Riter-Cook Manufacturing company. It is alleged that the defendant, while erecting a structure, on March 21, 1907, were careless and negligent to the extent of permitting the beams to collapse in his permanent injury, he says, and to his damage in the sum of $25,000. He claims to have paid out $100 for medical attendance as a result of the accident.

DELEGATES ARE SELECTED

Business Men's Association Names Representatives for Inland Communities Convention.

At the meeting of the directors of the Manufacturers and Merchants' association last evening John Q. Critchlow, George C. Lambert, Jr., J. R. Valentine, John K. Bruff and Theodore Nystrom were elected delegates to the convention of the inland communities to be held November 16 at Wichita, Kan., for the purpose of the promotion of navigation on inland streams. The call for the convention is signed by six of the leading commercial bodies of the west. The purpose of the meeting is to carry out the policy suggested by President Roosevelt in a recent address. Alleged freight discrimination of various railroads will also be discussed. A committee was appointed to call on the contractors in charge of the construction work on the Newhouse buildings and the Railway Exchange building to endeavor to persuade them, in so far as practicable, to submit the contract for the different classes of work, such as sheet metal work and the structural iron work to local contractors in order that money so derived might remain in the state.

It was also decided that the present exhibits of Utah products at the chamber of commerce be rearranged and several new features added. Among other new exhibits will be the trophies won by Utah at the recent irrigation congress at Sacramento.

BOYS MEET GREAT LEADER

Juvenile Band Members Serenade Sousa, Who Tells Them They Are Doing Splendid Work.

One of the pleasant features of Mr. Sousa's visit to Salt Lake was the serenade of the famous bandmaster by the Salt Lake boys' band. The band played Sousa's "Occidental" march in the lobby of the Knutsford at 6:30 o'clock last evening.

Mr. Sousa appeared on the balcony and applauded the rendition of his popular march. In a brief talk he complimented the boys' work and said that if they continued to improve in a few years they would be his rivals. He extended to them an invitation to attend his concert last evening. The boys closed the serenade with a selection from "Little Johnnie Jones."

Following the concert last evening Mr. Sousa shook hands with all of the boys and congratulated them on the reputation they had made. He said that he had frequently heard of their work during their tour of the east. He said that he was happy to have the pleasure of hearing them and hoped that the citizens of Salt Lake would see to it that the organization was made permanent.

He told the boys that it was but a few steps from the chair to the conductor's stand and he hoped that some of them would some day become great band masters.

YOUNG FILES HIS ANSWER

Attorney General of Minnesota Denies Jurisdiction of the Federal Court.

St. Paul, Nov. 4.—Attorney General Young today filed his answer in the suits brought in the United States circuit court to test the validity of the merchandise rates established by the railroad and warehouse commission and the 2-cent passenger rate and the commodity rate laws passed by the legislature last winter. The question of the jurisdiction of the court in these cases is involved in the habeas corpus proceedings now pending in the United States supreme court as a result of Mr. Young's violation of the injunction issued in these cases.

The answer states that a large part of the company's business, in each case, is the transportation of interstate commerce, but denies that there is any necessary confusion or intermingling of the state and interstate business transacted by the company, and alleges that the amount and the cost and productiveness of each are capable of being segregated and ascertained and have been so ascertained for many years past as a matter of common practice among railroads. The answer then denies the jurisdiction of the court in the case and alleges that the complainant "sought to restrain and enjoin the performance by this defendant, as attorney general of the state of Minnesota, of his discretionary official duties and powers and that the above entitled cause is in truth and in fact a suit against the state of Minnesota instituted and maintained contrary to the provision of the constitution of the United States of America."
